Unlike most dreadlocks that can accommodate only one or two types of video recording devices, zhiyun crane m2 can be used for 4 devices simultaneously. This gimbal can be used with a compact camera, a small mirrorless camera (with a maximum weight of 720 grams,) a smartphone and an action camera. Despite its compact size, zhiyun has a powerful engine to manage multiple devices or scenarios. the handle has an oled display, control buttons and a joystick to control the direction of the gimbal. oled skull m2 screen is comfortable. on this screen, you can view gimbal mode, bluetooth status and wifi, battery level and other vital parameters. zhiyun crane m2 is also easy to stabilize, with the presence of device location memory block to facilitate when you quickly switch between different devices. this design pin and gimbal hook can prevent the stopper from oscillating during storage. This allows Crane-M2 to be folded and locked as soon as it is saved in a bag or pocket. Three.the modes have M2 CRANE, namely Pan Follow (PF), Follow (F), and Lock (L). In addition to these 3 usage modes, the Vortex mode is available for 360-degree shots, POV Full Range for 360-degree synchronization in 33 axes, Go Mode to capture people in fast motion, as well as selfie modes that are suitable for vloggers. Unlike the previous CRANE M series, Zhiyun CRANE M2 has been equipped with Wi-Fi and Bluetooth. This way, you do not need a cable to connect it to the camera you want to check. Zhiyun also provided the ZY Play app, which offers more natural control and configuration functions, such as Timelapse and Panorama. For batteries, Zhiyun CRANE M2 will be usable up to 7 hours. Considering that the battery is internal, you can only use a battery that, fortunately, can be recharged with a power bank.
